Dear Dr. Schoonover,

I recently moved to Salem and need a new dentist. I am interested in some serious dental surgery in the near future, and I just know you can't wait to get your hands in my mouth.

For the past few years I toyed with the idea of removing all of my teeth, and I finally committed myself to this course of action. I eat a lot of rough foods that grind down my teeth; for example, raw nuts. My research shows that dentures will withstand the wear and tear better. In addition, I can't stand the taste of toothpaste. I hope this course of action will help.

Please reply to this letter with information detailing an estimate of the cost for this procedure. Would this procedure be likely to be covered by any insurance plan? Also, what information do I need to provide in order to be accepted as a patient? Please respond quickly before I change my mind. But seriously, I'm going to do it. I hope we can find a time in the near future to discuss the operation.

Respectfully yours,

Ryan V. Pappe
