

kimberly withey

From: Karl Loren [karl@karlloren.com]
Sent: Friday, March 28, 2003 11:47 AM
To: Kimberly
Cc: Kimberly; Nick
Subject: RE: Message to Karl Loren from the Chelation Therapy On Line Home Section

[[Karl Loren]] He did not give email!!

Please print and mail.

KL

[[Karl Loren]] Dear Brent,

MSM is not a homeopathic substance. If you bought such, it was a fraud.

MSM is extremely good for dogs. I have used it on my own. There is no chance it could harm your dog -- you mention "lotion" it could have many impurities in it.

Tell me the brand, I will investigate. I have published many exposes about lies about MSM.

If the cream harmed your dog, I would never use it -- but that is doubtful.

My cream is very safe to use.

Karl

How much MSM should you take? And How?

How long should you keep taking any particular dosage?

First how?

MSM in capsule form does not usually raise this question. Capsules are easy to take -- several into the mouth, a swallow of water or beverage, and you have taken them. Some people can only take one or two capsules at a time -- others can stuff 20 in their mouth and manage to get them down with one or two swallows of water.

Bulk MSM? Your choice is really between putting a teaspoon of the stuff into your mouth (it tastes pretty bad) and then taking enough water or juice to wash it down -- or putting that teaspoon full into a glass of something.

3/31/2003